John Henry® Expands in Nursery Market with Former TGM Marketing Group

New York, NY: John Henry, a Multi Packaging Solutions Company, and leader in print, packaging, and merchandising solutions for the horticulture industry announced today that it has added the former TGM Marketing Group to its organization. John Henry is now strategically positioned across all segments of the horticulture industry, having combined its expertise in the greenhouse market with their strengths in the nursery market.

The expanded John Henry team has the sales and design resources to develop custom branding and differentiated marketing programs for bedding plants, perennials, trees, shrubs, and foliage plants. With its network of manufacturing facilities and unique technologies for value added printing on plastic, paperboard, and paper, John Henry is able to respond seamlessly to customers needs, even during periods of peak demand.

“We are excited about the former TGM Marketing Group becoming a part of the John Henry organization and look forward to working with them as a unified team.” commented Kristi Huffman, Senior Vice President John Henry Horticulture, “Together we now offer customers unparalleled creative and manufacturing resources with experienced industry professionals and an extensive array of print and packaging technologies.”

The new John Henry selling and design team will be headquartered in the company’s Dallas, TX facility to take full advantage of the design and technical resources available.
